

SLITHER

We can all be disillusioned
We can all lose the faith
But the flame still burns deep inside
And you can't take that away

Feed the hunger, quench the thirst
Promises poured down like rain
Your words were like a drug to me
To dull our senses and ease the pain

I didn't see you for what you were
Snake in the grass
Slither away

I've decided that I don't need you
Don't even want to hear your voice
It's someone else's turn to pay the dues
Do they know they have a choice?

We were in the right place at the right time
We all saw the rising stars
It seems like a million moons ago
But to remind me there's still scars

I didn't see you for what you were
Snake in the grass
Slither away

Mountains have crumbled and bridges have burned
Nothing is left when trust is gone
Someday if I forgive you and myself
Then you'll be just a stepping stone
You were just our stepping stone
